

Death Toll Is Behind Last Year

By The Associated Press
The final day of the 78-hour Christmas holiday traffic death count opened today with fatalities running 20 per cent behind last Christmas, and the National Safety Council said it was a hopeful sign.

The toll stood at 444 early this morning.

"I hate to say it too flatly, because the roof can still fall in—but if it keeps up the way it's going, the death toll certainly will be below last year," a council spokesman said.

"Of course," he cautioned, "we have to bear in mind that last year's toll was unusually high." Over Christmas 1965, a record 720 persons died in traffic.

The council has predicted 650 to 750 deaths between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight today, the counting period. For comparison, The Associated Press counted 391 deaths during the nonholiday period Dec. 5-12.

If this Christmas did set a record, it would be the first since nonrecord in 1945 years. Record numbers have died in traffic over the past eight holiday periods, the greatest average coming last Thanksgiving when 784 died in four days. The figure was the largest for any holiday period of any length.

The council spokesman said the best way to keep alive is to leave early for home. In his words, "We've found that it's the last-minute rush, the rushing, driving fast—that causes deaths."

Idaho Has No Road Deaths In Last Hours

By The Associated Press
As Idaho's Christmas holiday went into its final hours today, no traffic deaths had been reported, in spite of a blanket of snow which had been reported in some areas.

An Idaho man died Saturday near Wells, Nev., when his car was struck by a truck on Highway 93 and overturned. The Nevada Highway Patrol said the driver, 24, of Murtaugh, Idaho.

The snow began falling early Christmas Day in most of Idaho, leaving about two inches in most places. Intermittent snow was forecast to continue into today.

Roads were reported slick, but chains were required only on sections of State Highway 21 and U.S. Highway 12.

Area Man Killed In Nevada Crash

MURTAUGH — A Murtaugh man was killed and another seriously injured when a half-ton truck towing an automobile died off U.S. Highway 93 and overturned in eastern Nevada Saturday.

Ronald G. Craner, 24, Murtaugh, driver of the truck, died an hour after the accident. Nevada Highway Patrol said the passenger, 23, of Murtaugh, was reported in fair condition Monday morning at an Elko hospital, where he is being treated for a broken neck. Relatives said.

This was Nevada's first holiday traffic fatality. Details of the accident were not immediately available.

Funeral services are pending at Payne Mortuary, Burley.

PLANS TO RETURN
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Dr. Karl von Schuckner, former chancellor of Austria, said today he planned to retire from teaching in January and return to Austria.

Wage Earners' Taxes Hiked To Provide For Medicare Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Taxes are going up for U.S. wage earners as much as $13.75 each next year even if President Johnson doesn't ask Congress for an income tax boost. The reason. Social Security taxes increase Jan. 1 to help pay for medicare, increased retirement, and disability, and other benefits voted by last Congress. The new levy is 4.4 per cent of the worker's first $5,000 in earnings, up from the current 4.2 per cent.

The increased rate is expected to raise an additional $1 billion next year. Of the $230.40 individual maximum, $33 will go into the fund paying for the medicare program that began July 1.

President Johnson has said he'll announce next month whether to ask for more income tax. The amount of tax withheld from wages plus other income tax payments will be $220.40 for 1967.

Johnson also has said he will ask Congress for more Social Security benefits next year. Increased benefits could mean another Social Security tax hike or a look to general funds for financing.

A change in the tax laws that becomes effective Jan. 1 will permit taxpayers who normally claim substantial deductions, and receive a large refund to reduce the amount of tax withheld from their paychecks.

Up to $700 in annual income will be exempt from withholding taxes. There is no change in overall tax liability. The plan simply is a device to bring a person's withholding more in line with the actual tax he must pay.

Beginning Jan. 1, these other tax law changes take effect for the 1967 tax year:

- The self-employed must pay Social Security taxes quarterly from wages plus quarterly payments of estimated tax must total at least 80 per cent of the tax a person owes instead of 70 per cent.

- Corporations must begin paying taxes on a current basis in 1967 instead of in 1970.
- Persons 65 and over who itemize income tax deductions can deduct only those medical expenses exceeding 3 per cent of their gross income, instead of all medical expenses. Other taxpayers are already subject to the 3-per cent clause.

Prime Minister Harold Holt announced last week that he planned an Australian tour, but no specific date was set.

"The day on which Marshall Key steps on our shores should be declared a day of national mourning," Calwell said. "I hope the proposed visit will be canceled."

He said Holt should "remember that 40 per cent of the electorate strongly opposes his Vietnam policy, and no matter what others might say or do, I will not remain silent on the issue."

Australia now has about 4,500 troops in Vietnam and Holt has promised to send more. The nation's commitment to Vietnam was a major issue in the national election last month.

The Melbourne Herald reported that the federal capital of Canberra there was speculation in diplomatic circles that the government may cancel the proposed visit in the face of adverse reaction.

Celebrates

PEORIA, Ariz. (AP) — Raphael Apodaca has lost 250 pounds in eight months, and he ate a big Christmas dinner in celebration.

Authorities at Maricopa County Hospital in Phoenix said Apodaca had been under treatment, allowed him to go home for the holiday.

A truck driver who stands 5 feet 7½, he was hospitalized voluntarily after a heart attack. He was unable to continue working because of his weight.

Some Areas Blanketed With Snow

Most Magic Valley residents, among gifts Christmas morning, also received snow during the holiday weekend.

An exception was an area that wanted and needed it most, the Sun Valley resort area. Roads were bare in the Halley-Keckum area with a steady 18 inch snow floor on the valley. Temperatures were 8 degrees Monday morning with reports of frost through the week.

Snow, falling in huge soft flakes, coated Rupert during the weekend leaving an inch and a half Monday morning, snow covered roads and an unofficial 20 degree temperature.

Snow was falling at pressure in Murtaugh and Burley, with snow reported over the weekend ending between two- and three inches on the ground. Roads were reported snow covered and slick.

Fairfield reported snowfall through the holiday weekend with 14 inches on the ground and a temperature just above zero. Roads were being plowed at press time and reported slick.

Gooding and Shoshone reported an early morning fog Monday and about two inches of snow fell by the weekend snowfall. Roads were reported slick and temperatures fairly warm.

Fog was also reported in Jerome.

Twin Falls received new snow through the weekend leaving snowfall on the ground with fairly warm temperatures, and snow covered roads.

Only one flight was unable to land at Jolin Field, Twin Falls, over the holidays. A flight at 5:19 p.m. Sunday from Boise, continued on to Salt Lake City, Utah, its regular terminal point. Twin Falls passengers were brought back later to Twin Falls. The storm, which delayed the landing, lifted at 10 p.m. and no other difficulty has been reported by airport officials.

U.S. Bombers Raid North Vietnam At End Of Cease-Fire

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON (AP)—Flying through heavy weather, U.S. bombers raided North Vietnam today at the end of a two-day Christmas cease-fire and struck at one target storage areas and truck parks. The U.S. command said the bombers hit assessments. The target close to Hanoi was not identified. Simultaneously, U.S. B52 heavy bombers staged three raids during the day, two of them within 20 miles of Saigon and the third in the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam.

Both the North and South Vietnamese high command still withheld any charge against the Communists of violating the truce, although it was punctuated throughout by gunfire. The two commands reported a combined total of 122 combat incidents during the 48-hour cease-fire, but they listed only 27 of these as significant.

"We are not characterizing these incidents as violations," a U.S. spokesman said.

The Communists charged the United States with breaking the truce, even their accusation appeared somewhat muffled. The North Vietnamese News Agency said U.S. planes intruded on the north Sunday during the truce but made no claim that bombs were dropped. Hanoi said one U.S. plane was shot down.

A U.S. spokesman said he had no report of any American planes being shot down, but acknowledged that U.S. planes flew reconnaissance flights over the north during the truce.

In announcing renewal of the offensive today, the spokesman did not disclose immediately the number of bombing missions. He said, however, the strikes were limited by poor flying weather.

On a night ground engagement in South Vietnam was reported after the truce ended. South Vietnamese and American troops fought a battle in the area of the cease-fire.

Author's Illness Halts Book Talks

By JOHN VINOCUR
NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations over publication of William Manchester's book "The Death of a President" were halted today by the critical illness of the author. A spokesman for former federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind, the attorney representing Mrs. John F. Kennedy in her suit to stop publication of the book, said in a meeting with the book's publishers, scheduled for today, has been called off.

The reason for cancellation of the meeting was the illness of Manchester, who was suddenly hospitalized today with pneumonia. Earlier, it was reported that in the dispute had said that an out-of-court agreement was near.

Manchester, 44, was taken by ambulance early today to Midwestern Memorial Hospital in his home town of Middletown, Conn. He became ill Saturday morning, and his wife, Julia, said, "There's no work it out quickly."

Edward Greenbaum, attorney for Harper & Row, publishers of the book, indicated progress had been made in talks Saturday and said, "There's not much left, we'll try to work it out quickly."

A spokesman for Mrs. Kennedy, whose suit to block publication of the account comes up for hearing Tuesday if no court settlement is reached, pointed to wading through the book's account of the assassination of the president as one of the areas of difficulty.

Mrs. Kennedy has already reached agreement with Look magazine, which intends to publish a 60,000-word serialization beginning in the issue appearing December 26.

The cutting left to be done in the book involves passages Mrs. Kennedy considers intimate but which she has said she is concerned is reported not to extend to episodes said to be unfavorable to President Johnson.

Newspack magazine reported that Johnson was unhappy with some of the text and that his criticism of the events surrounding the assassination differed sharply with some of those reportedly contained in the book.

Johnson recalled, according to Newspack, that he ordered President Johnson's coffin placed on Air Force One instead of the vice presidential jet for the flight back from Washington and that he had suggested the suggestion of the Secret Service.

"I wasn't going to let Mrs. Kennedy fly back alone with the pictures," he said. "I was concerned as to whether Johnson as telling intimates."

Cambodia Breaks Korea Relations

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Cambodia has broken all relations with South Korea, the Cambodian state radio announced tonight.

A note to this effect was delivered to the South Korean Consulate-General, the broadcast said, and personnel of the consulate were told to leave Phnom Penh as soon as possible.

The announcement gave no details on the reason for the break in relations, which have been maintained at the consular level.

The American and Soviet picture-taking programs are part of plans to land men on the moon. The United States is committed to sending two men to the moon by late before 1970. The Soviet Union has made no official announcement of a moon landing.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Luna 13 was functioning normally and began sending pictures to earth Sunday about 10 hours after its descent. The craft was also radiating scientific data.

The officials describe as TV pictures still photographs taken by a television-type instrument, pictures ranging from microscopic to large chunks of earth television.

Luna 13 Sends Good Pictures, But Indicates No Progress Over Luna 9

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
MOSCOW (AP)—The softly landed Luna 13 has begun to send back good photographs of the moon's surface but the pictures indicated no basic progress by Soviet scientists over Luna 9, 9 last February.

Luna 13 touched down on the moon Saturday.

A commentary on two photographs shown on Moscow television Sunday night, Prof. A. I. Lebedinsky said, "Luna 13 has sent back good photographs of the moon's surface but the pictures indicated no basic progress by Soviet scientists over Luna 9, 9 last February."

Air Force Scientists Note Peril From Birds Colliding With Aircraft

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force scientists reported today a growing peril from birds colliding with military and commercial aircraft.

They said damage to Air Force planes alone amounts to about $10 million yearly.

"Bird aircraft collisions are far more common than the public suspects or than pilots care to admit," declared a report from the Air Force Office of Scientific Research.

"The menace is growing as aircraft speeds increase, as more air miles are flown each year, as greater numbers of aircraft are powered by jet engines," said the report exhibited at the opening of the 13th annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the world's largest general science organization.

The report said the innocent feathered foes range from starlings to whistling swans and from eagles to sandpeeps. It indicated the biggest hazard comes from birds being ingested by a plane's engines, especially those of jet aircraft.

But scientists also reported damage to wing panels, flaps, landing gear and other key elements of aircraft structure.

The researchers cited these statistics to illustrate "the grim fact that bird-aircraft collisions are increasing in frequency and cost."

—U.S. Air Force aircraft collisions of this type totaled $32 million in 1965, nearly six times the number reported for the previous year. In previous years, however, only collisions causing actual damage were required to be reported. But incomplete records for 1966 appear to bear out the trend.

—U.S. commercial airlines never, prevented entirely as long as birds and aircraft are in the air together. But the probability of such collisions can be reduced.

Air Force scientists take the view that in the long run, biological studies of the birds, including their migratory, foraging, and other habits, offer the best hope of minimizing the menace.

A State Department official told the science association that high-speed electronic computers may play increasingly key roles in helping force future foreign policy and perhaps training diplomats.

Howard E. Ball, director of the State Department's Center for International Systems Research, said computers are already among tools enabling State Department social scientists to focus increased attention "on basic phenomena, on factors embedded deep in human and society-wide behavior."

But, in saying that computers, however versatile, will always need smart men to handle them console controls and, in effect, ask the right questions of the robot, the official declared:

"Who knows how far we may go in this direction? Is it too much to postulate that some day we will prepare diplomats for tariff negotiation encounters by putting them through a computer-aided simulation in a manner not unlike our astronauts' rehearsal for their first approach to the moon?"

Ex-King Saud Supports Nasser

CAIRO, U.A.R. (AP) — Ex-King Saud of Saudi Arabia pledged support to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and said he would "never give up Saudi Arabia," in two newspaper interviews today.

Saud called on "those misguided Arab rulers to return to the right path," an apparent reference to his half-brother King Faisal, who ousted him from the throne two years ago.

Jerome To "Wait, See" On Request

—The Jerome City Council has adopted a "wait and see" attitude regarding a request by the State Highway Department that the city donate $500 for changing traffic signals in the center of town.

Mayor Earl Greenawald reports that councilmen have expressed the feeling that present signs are adequate for pedestrian traffic, especially since the opening of the new section of the Interstate Highway has reduced traffic on Main Street. They feel the expense to local taxpayers is not justified.

The council was asked last week by Ron Dehlin, district traffic engineer, to pay half the cost to change the signals from "walk" and "wait" to "walk" and "Don't walk." The change would involve replacing the inch circle forms to 5 1/2 inch squares which, according to Dehlin, would be more clearly readable.

Councilmen took the matter under advisement after learning there is no guarantee that standards will not be revised again in the next few years.

They questioned Dehlin about possible penalties for failure to comply with the state request and he said federal funds would be curtailed by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Also appearing before the council was Lewis Bevin who, according to the building inspector, has failed to secure a building permit for a building he is constructing on his land. The location of the building is in violation of the city ordinance.

According to Richard Seely, city attorney, and Bevin was requested to comply with the ordinance.

Monday, Dec. 26, 1966
Twin Falls Times-News 3

datory it was $1.10, but has since been lowered to 75 cents. Councilmen approved the purchase of radar equipment for the police department, contingent upon available funds remaining in the department budget.

Meet Scheduled

CAIRO, U.A.R. (AP) — The Arab Defense Council will meet in February to discuss ways to carry out its Dec. 18 decision that troops of the Unified Arab Command should enter Jordan within two months to confront Israel. Cairo newspapers said today.

Death Takes H. R. Davis, 81, Buhl

BUHL—Homer R. Davis, 81, 509 8th Ave. N., Buhl, died early Sunday morning after a long illness.

Mr. Davis was born Jan. 12, 1885, at Fayetteville, Mo., and was married to Bella Johnson, at Pansy, Mo., on Feb. 7, 1909. They lived in Missouri until moving to Buhl in March, 1937. They farmed in the Buhl and Castledare areas until Mr. Davis retired several years ago. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Surviving, besides his widow, are two daughters, Mrs. M. J. Hartley, and Mrs. Lillian P. Hartley, both of Castledare; three sons, William Davis, Port, Castledare, Wash.; Elroy Davis, Castledare, and John Davis, King Hill; and nine grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Buhl Church of Christ by Rev. O. D. Hunsaker. Burial will be at the Buhl Cemetery. Friends may call at the Albertson-Dickson Funeral Home, Tuesday until 8 p.m. and Wednesday until noon.

Jack Benny To Take Part In Inaugural

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Of his Hollywood acquaintances, only Jack Benny will take part in Ronald Reagan's inaugural as California's third governor.

Benny will play his violin with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra Jan. 4 during the inaugural concert.

Reagan, a Republican, defeated Democrat Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who had Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin on his campaign when he was sworn in four years ago for a second term.

Reagan is to take the oath at 12:01 a.m. Jan. 2, the earliest the law allows. An aide said Sunday, "There's some question about who has the power and authority to act between 12:01 and 12:02 a.m. The governor is sworn in and the Reagan administration people feel it should be resolved as soon as possible."

Reagan had first planned the ceremony for 12:10 a.m. but moved it up, saying Brown was making too many last-minute appointments, mainly on the day.

Brown indicated he thought Reagan believed in astrology and let the stars dictate the day. Reagan denied that.

Bundy Gives Views On War Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy said the bombing of North Vietnam should not be used to destroy that country's general economy.

Neither does he favor any prolonged pause in present bombing patterns unless the Communists show they will reciprocate by easing some other element of the war.

Bundy, now president of the Ford Foundation, made his support of what he cited as current U.S. policy of limiting air strikes to targets related to North Vietnam's military activities known to the south.

"My fundamental thinking is 'whereas as it has been said, Bundy was national security affairs adviser to Presidents Johnson and John F. Kennedy before he resigned last February."

Bundy spoke on the NBC television-radio program "Meet The Press."

On the CBS program "Face The Nation," Dr. Eugene C. Blakely, general secretary of the World Council of Churches, said the United States should try to get to a conference table with anyone who was fighting with.

As far as it is announced we are trying to do this (concerning Vietnam), but the suspicion comes that we really aren't trying as hard as we should," he said.

Dr. Blakely, former top executive of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States, said U.S. policy too often ignores the growing gap between the wealth of the developed nations and the poverty of the undeveloped, and the danger of racial conflict.

IDAHO FALLS (AP)—An explosion ripped through an auto and shop building here Saturday morning causing at least $20,000 in damages. An employee and his wife were at the time. An adjoining apartment, escaped from the blazing ruins uninjured.

The explosion, apparently caused when a leaking natural gas line ignited, shook several other buildings and homes in the area and the two alarm fire called 20 firemen to fight massive flames in zero degree weather.

Thomas Tony Bartusky, who lives with his wife in an apartment on the second floor of the building, was awakened at 2:14 a.m. according to a clock found stopped amidst the wreckage of a first floor apartment. He found a fire in the ceiling in the apartment.

SENATOR APPEALS
BOISE (AP)—Idaho Sen. Frank Church called on interior secretary Stewart Udall Monday to bring the dead-end over development of federal land in southwest Idaho's Bruneau Desert.

There are thousands of acres of desert land in the Bruneau division that could and should be developed for private development, Church said, "when the department of interior sites itself to action."

The Idaho Democrat, home for the holiday, said the department has delayed more than two years a decision on whether to bring the dead-end, similar in some respects to homestead land, should be opened to corporate as well as individual farmer development.

Child Has Good Holiday With Lawyer

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Sharon Swindle, local point of 14-month custody fight, bounced from her bed to "as happy a Christmas day as any 4-year-old could imagine."

"She got about everything a little 4-year-old girl could hope for," said her attorney, Robert Paragould, the attorney who represents the child's mother in the custody fight.

Swindle's gifts included a walking doll, toy radio, toy dishes, color books and crayons, a "go go" car, a teddy bear, a toy bank, a charm bracelet, white "go go" boots, black patent leather shoes, a white toy bank.

Cathy and his wife were given temporary custody of Sharon last Monday by Circuit Judge Nina Edwards at St. Louis. Edwards, holding a hearing in the case, said he thought the mother should be settled in Arkansas courts.

Cathy and Sharon's mother, Valerie Day Swindle of Cheltenham, England, will appear in Greene County Chancery Court Thursday, Cathy said he hoped to conclude the case then.

Mrs. Swindle and Sharon's father, Gerald Swindle of Jonesboro, were married in England in 1954, separated in 1954 and divorced early in 1955.

Swindle went to England last year and whisked Sharon from her mother's house and brought her to Arkansas.

Mrs. Swindle followed and was awarded custody of the child, but Swindle did not appear at the hearing. He testified in the child to California and later moved to St. Louis with his second wife.

Mrs. Swindle spent Christmas with Sharon and the Cathys, with daughter, Ann, 21, and son, Don, 20.

"She and her daughter had a wonderful day," said Mrs. Cathy.

Extends Tour
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Airman 1st Class Daniel L. Anderson, 21, of Milwaukee, Wis., spent two days longer in Vietnam than he had to so that he could go to a Christmas party.

The party was given Sunday for 163 children of My Ca Village, near Cam Ranh Bay, by men of the Air Force's 35th Civil Engineering Squadron.

Anderson extended his tour in Vietnam by two days to help out and then left for home six hours after the party.

"It was worth it to see their happy faces," he said.

APPLIES FOR GRANT
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Water Resource Board has applied for a $50,000 federal grant to continue studies for comprehensive water use planning.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie said Smylie also said the water board expects to apply for another grant of more than $100,000 in 1967.

He said the $50,000 grant would be used partly for the current survey of potential uses of soil in the state as a basis for forecasting what future needs will be.

Smylie said the first soil survey report, from Cassia County, will be made by the board in January.

IDENTIFICATION DIFFICULT
GRANGEVILLE (AP)—Positive identification of two bodies found in a burned car in the remote timberlands of north-central Idaho may be impossible, said a County Sheriff Gene Fuzzell Monday.

The charred bodies were found Saturday, both burned beyond recognition.

Sheriff Fuzzell said he is "reasonably sure" the bodies are those of Glen Zarnett, 22, of Kootenai, and Marjorie Paul, 19, of nearby Kamiah. They disappeared Nov. 15.

N. Y. Mother
Knows Real
Tragedy

NEW YORK (AP)—New tragedy struck Gertrude Daly on Sunday to give the Queens mother a tragic Christmas.

Three of her children died in an early morning fire which destroyed their home in the Bell Harbor section of Queens.

Neighbors said her husband, James Daly, 49, collapsed and died two weeks ago at the wheel of a car. He had been driving the family home from the funeral of Mrs. Daly's mother.

Gertrude Daly only recently left a hospital following a gall bladder operation, neighbors said. And, they reported, she is distraught.

The three bodies recovered from the fire in the two-story wood frame home were identified as James Daly, 15, Kathleen Daly, 10, and Norcen Daly, 11.

The only survivors were the mother and another daughter, Alice Bonnie, 18.

11 Scientists Picked To Get Award

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President John F. Kennedy has named 11 scientists to receive the National Medal of Science for 1966.

The federal government's highest honor for scientific achievement.

The medal "serves as a symbol of the nation's desire to recognize outstanding achievement, to set an example for our youth and to depict to the world the scientific and technical accomplishments in science and engineering," Johnson said Sunday.

Johnson made his selections on the basis of recommendations from a committee headed by Dr. H. E. Carter of the University of Illinois. Recipients include scientists in the biological, engineering, mathematical and physical science fields.

They are Edward Fred Knipping, director, Entomology Research Division, U.S. Department of Agriculture; Fritz Albert Lipman, professor of biochemistry, Rockefeller University; William Cummings Ross, professor of chemistry, emeritus, University of Illinois;

Seawell-Wright, professor of genetics, emeritus, University of Wisconsin; Claude Elwood Shannon, Donner professor of science, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Vladimir Kosma Zworykin, national vice president, Radio Corporation of America; John Willard Milnor, professor of mathematics, Princeton University; Jacob said Bonnevill Bjerknes, professor of meteorology, University of California, Los Angeles;

Subrahmanyan Chandrasekhar, professor of theoretical astrophysics, University of Chicago; Henry Eyring, dean, graduate school (retired), University of Utah; John Hasbrouck Van Vleck, Hollis professor of mathematics, and natural philosophy, Harvard University.

Family Takes In Stranded Motorists

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Kendra Crispin, 8, and her sister, Becky, 4, hounded down the stairs Tuesday morning to find what Santa Claus had left them underneath the living room tree.

But what they found startled them. They saw a man lying downstairs of their home were several strangers, motorists stranded in one of the city's biggest snowstorms in recent years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Crispin had one of the wildest Christmas Eve experiences in taking every stranded motorist they could find in their home.

There were about 100 in all, they said.

Bundling up in their warmest clothes, Crispin and one of his older sons began marching along a highway near their home, inviting all the stranded motorists to "come over to the house and get warm."

Mrs. Crispin, meanwhile, put on the coffee pot and unwrapped a fruit cake and some food. She took the food to the house and served it to the motorists.

Mrs. Crispin, who kept turning out breakfasts of bacon and eggs and coffee indefinitely—termed her surprise guests "all very nice folks."

Reports Of Steel Sale
Are Rejected

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China rejected as slanderous today reports that it had sold several thousand tons of steel to "American military aggressors in Vietnam."

The China News Agency published what it called an authorized denial. It said such reports had been recently published by Soviet newspapers and Western news agencies.

Reports in Western business circles in Singapore last week said an export-import company there had sold several thousand tons of Chinese steel to the U.S. government earlier this year for use in Vietnam. The company is headed by a mysterious Chinese woman.

American sources said the government took precautions to keep from buying any Red Chinese goods but added that slips could occur. Official sources in Singapore regarded the reports with skepticism, finding it hard to believe that a U.S. purchasing agent would knowingly buy Red Chinese goods or that Peking would knowingly sell any for use in South Vietnam.

Business circles, however, said the two governments did not appear to know what was going on in the reported steel deal, which was made, they added, in Hong Kong, with Singapore as a transshipment point.

ROSANNE TOBIN

daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Tobin, Twin Falls, has received a fellowship for independent study of Irish literature for six months. She is a junior at Occidental College, Los Angeles, and will arrive there in January.

Her efforts will be centered on comparing modern Irish drama to that of the Irish literary renaissance of the 1920's and 1930's. Upon completion of her project she will write a thesis for credit from Occidental College.

A 1964 graduate of Twin Falls High School, Miss Tobin said she is interested in studying the Irish theater as a national institution and as national literature. The only trouble she expects to encounter will be censorship which may make it difficult.

Apportionment Problems Are Eyed in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Utah lawmakers are making sure, through the Legislative Study Committee, that the state won't be faced with any more reapportionment problems in future legislative sessions.

The committee is to come up with a means of apportioning to make sure 10 years from now, when the state constitution requires reapportionment, that both houses of the Utah Legislature are apportioned to suit federal requirements.

Other committee tasks dealing with reapportionment, is revision of the state constitution to make apportionment permissive rather than mandatory, and deletion of a state constitutional provision giving counties at least one state representative.

Under the committee's plan, the legislature would assume responsibility every 10 years of making sure Utah's was represented by a fair number of representatives and not by county.

Soldier Will Be Buried By Uncle

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—An uncle says he will bury Sgt. Richard Campos, an "orphan" whose body has lain unclaimed while the Army hunted a relative.

His uncle, John Campos, was found Sunday by a Sacramento Union reporter in a hotel here and told of the sergeant's death Dec. 8 while on combat patrol in Vietnam.

The uncle, a farm worker, said he had not heard of the search because he had been working near Marysville.

Individuals and groups had offered to bury Campos when it became known his body was unclaimed at the Oakland, Calif., Army Terminal. The Army said, however, that only a relative could claim the body. If one were not found, the army added, Campos would be buried by the Army with full military honors.

The Army says that officially it still regards the soldier as having no next of kin.

"When his uncle shows up," an Army spokesman said, "We cannot release Sgt. Campos' body without reasonable proof of the relationship and identification." A Sacramento Union reporter said the uncle has papers proving his relationship.

Demos Poll 51 Per Cent Of Votes

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Democrats control 57 per cent of the House seats in the next Congress, but they polled only 51.01 per cent of the popular votes which elected House members.

The tabulated vote in all House contests showed 28,916,610 votes cast for Democrats, 25,398,682 for Republicans and 420,845 for minor party or write-in candidates.

Democrats control the new House 248 to 187. Fifty-one of these Democrats and four Republicans were unopposed in the general election.

Voting was generally light in the districts with unopposed candidates and was not even tabulated in two Arkansas districts which were uncontested.

Comparisons to vote totals for other races show that about 3.5 million persons went to the ballot box, but didn't vote for a House candidate.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower spent Christmas Day at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington where he is recovering from surgery he underwent Dec. 12 to remove his gall bladder.

Michigan's Indians Have Big Day

RAY MILLS, Mich. (AP)—The 32 Indian families of this Upper Michigan reservation enjoyed the best Christmas they've ever had. The families received hundreds of presents, so many gifts, in fact, that they shared them with others in Upper Michigan.

The food, clothing and toys poured into the tiny village by plane, truck and car. They replaced an earlier donation destroyed in a fire at a mission church Wednesday.

The man whose concern for an Indian girl sparked the outpouring of goodwill returned to the reservation Saturday.

Harry Mitchell, 48, a Port Huron telephone worker, arrived aboard a C119 cargo plane carrying two tons of gifts for the 325 Chippewas on the reservation. The military transport flew from Selfridge Air Force Base near Detroit.

Last month, while deer hunting, Mitchell came upon a little Indian girl standing barefooted in the snow in 12-degree weather. He told some of the telephone company workers, who launched the first drive.

Word of the fire spread rapidly, setting off the second drive to gather goods for the Indian families.

4 Women Are Shocked by Hanoi Visit

TOKYO (AP)—Four American women affiliated with peace groups have been "deeply shocked" by their visits to places in and near Hanoi recently bombed by U.S. planes, the Vietnamese News Agency said today.

The women saw "populous residential quarters, pagodas, schools and hospitals destroyed by American aircraft, and visited many victims of U.S. bombings, most of them children," according to the North Vietnamese report.

The women are Mrs. Joe Griffith, 32, Ithaca, N.Y.; Grace Newman, 39, New York City; Barbara Deming, 49, Wellfleet, Mass.; and Diane Bevel, 24, Chicago.

North Vietnam has said U.S. air raids Dec. 13 and 14 hit inside Hanoi's city limits and killed or wounded more than 100 civilians. U.S. officials have denied it but have not ruled out the possibility of accidental bombings.

15-Day Strike Is Ended In Santiago

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A 15-day strike at government-operated hospitals, clinics and cemeteries ended Sunday and 50,000 workers started to return to work under a government promise that their economic demands will be reviewed.

The workers, including male and female nurses, walked off their jobs when the government denied a 20 per cent raise. Interior Minister Bernardo Leighton and union leaders agreed Sunday morning that economic improvements would be studied by the national health service when work is back to normal.

The army, Red Cross and civil defense took over operation of health facilities throughout the country when the strike started. Only the seriously ill were allowed to remain in hospitals.

King Hill Church Holds Christmas Program, Dinner

KING HILL, Approximately 45 persons attended the Christmas dinner Thursday night at the King Hill United Presbyterian Church, sponsored by the organizations of the church. A short program was presented with Mrs. Martin Woodward in charge.

The story of Christmas was told by the primary Sunday school class with Mrs. Charles Finlayson as narrator.

A clarinet duet by Carla Rutherford and Sarah McCleary, a flute solo by Tamara Sherman and a duet, "Happy Birthday, Dear Jesus," sung by Little Finlayson and Glena McCleary constituted the musical portion of the program.

Treats of candy were given to all attending.

Christmas carols were sung by the group with Mrs. Garald Bybee as accompanist.

Following the program and dinner the young people heard a trick for a hayride and sang Christmas carols around the neighborhood.

Miss Mansfield's Son Sent Home

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Actress Jayne Mansfield observed what she called "the most beautiful Christmas a mother could have," following the homecoming of her injured son, Zoltan.

Zoltan was bitten and mauled by a lion one month ago and returned from a hospital Sunday after three operations and a bout with spinal meningitis.

5 Engines, 41 Cars Derail In Washington

PERRY, Wash. (AP)—Rocks loosened by frost plunged to the bottom of a 50-foot canyon and derailed five diesel engines and 41 cars of a Union Pacific freight train early Sunday.

The railroad said 38 of the cars were loaded with frozen food, grain, lumber and general merchandise eastbound from Spokane. The derailment occurred near the junction of the Snake and Palouse rivers.

No injuries were reported.

Trains were being rerouted pending clearing of the tracks, which a Union Pacific spokesman said would take about two days. Several derricks and a bulldozer were removing the cars.

Two of the diesels were turned on their sides. The train had 138 cars altogether.

No damage estimate was immediately available.

Mao Tse-tung, Now 73, Becomes Most Controversial Figure In Communism

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Mao Tse-tung, 73 today, has become the most controversial figure in international communism—but also the leader who is at least known in many senses.

He heads the biggest Communist party, with 17 or more million members. He rules the most populous nation on earth, a yeasty, lively, varied and highly civilized country of 720 million.

His policy of people's war and revolution is the burning issue of communism, the No. 1 challenge to the West. It is being put to a fiery test in Vietnam.

Less than a year ago, Mao was thought to be the unchallenged leader of a monolithic party. But since this summer, astonishing revelations from Peking have washed away the illusion that he was all-powerful, unquestioned and obeyed. Biggest surprise of all: President Liu Shao-chi, long regarded as his successor, appeared to be in the forefront of his critics.

Disclosures of party unfaithfulness apparently shook Mao. In the fall of 1965 he went south to think and plan. He returned to Peking last August, shook up the party and raised his friends to top spots. He put men like Liu and party general secretary

Tong Hsiao-Ping on lower rungs of the party ladder.

With his old crony and new ally, Defense Minister Lin Biao, he drew up plans for a purge—the "great proletarian cultural revolution."

With Lin he created the politically innocent but apparently reliable Red Guards. They showed enthusiasm in attacking wavering party committees in the cities and provinces. They helped put pressure on Liu and Teng.

On Mao's birthday the party's mainstream faction, with Mao and Lin in command, has an apparent lead over its rivals.

No Solace

LONDON (AP)—The British had their problems in the past year but they apparently kept a stiff upper lip and did not seek special solace in alcohol.

Despite their troubles with the pound sterling and Rhodesia, statistics showed Britons consumed less wine and hard liquor during the year than in the previous 12 months.

Philosophical Gambler Dies At Mt. Sinai Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Nickolas Andrea (Nick the Greek) Dandolos, the philosophical gambler who repeatedly went from rags to riches and back, died shortly before midnight Sunday at Mt. Sinai Hospital. Spokesman said he died from complications that followed a heart attack he suffered Dec. 14. His age was variously given at 70 to 81.

Dandolos, who said he regarded life as a game that must end and once described death as "a sound sleep undisturbed by foolish dreams," was said to have played with a half-billion dollars during his long career with the odds.

He estimated that he had been alternately wealthy and broke more than 70 times and stoically accepted both states as part of the game, describing each rethe first meeting of the career servicemen in 11 years. Bill's family lives in Arlington, Va., while Jim's family is in San Diego. Their mother lives in Whitney, S. C. The brothers agreed "We ought to get together more often." (AP wirephoto) outs who lingered outside his hotel.

He was also considered charitable on the gaming table—in a cold, gambler's way.

After he won $100,000 from a New York lawyer and picked up $450,000 in side bets, Dandolos reportedly was accused by the lawyer of running away with his winnings. The story says Nick returned to the table, shuffled the cards and said: "Pull one. High card takes $350,000." The attorney paled, shook his head and Nick walked away.

"I'm not proud I'm a gambler," Nick once told a reporter. "I've always discouraged gambling in others, too, except the people who can well afford it. I gamble because I like to study people. I have gained more knowledge of people and life by gambling than I could have by any other way."

He said he stumbled into his gambling career by accident. At 18, while traveling in Canada, he received word that his fi-

1,059 Kalamazoo College Students Study In 22 Cities In 14 Countries

By AILEEN SNOODY, NEW YORK (NEA)—Every time someone mentions Kalamazoo my collar tweek and I remember two college journalists who once visited our country.

The young women from Australia were fascinated with the city's name and put it on their must list of places to see.

The city, they explained, was "colonized by the Glenn Miller hit record years ago, much as Winchester Cathedral now is. It's funny what will arouse a student's curiosity. Such a campus-inspired wondering, though, is leading to a two-way jet stream of international student exchanges.

Although the number of students participating remains small in comparison to those from Big Ten student bodies, a count reveals that 1,059 Kalamazoo College students have studied in 22 cities in 14 countries. The impact on the students, on their families and their friends is immeasurable.

Discussing this recently here was one who helped develop the school's foreign study program. With his crewcut and tweed jacket, Dr. Richard V. Stavig looked more like the small town midwestern businessman who "gets took" on Times Square than a shrewd English prof who travels all over the world ironing out problems with foreign school representatives and businessmen.

According to Stavig, he is an expert because "I was a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Heidelberg in 1958 when Kalamazoo began the program. Since I was there, I was elected to help set up the study in Germany. With one year's experience, I became an expert."

The first year, 25 Kalamazoo students went abroad. This fall's class is 191.

The foreign study program has helped Kalamazoo shift from a science-oriented campus to one more interested in social education, languages and the need to communicate with other countries.

About 99 per cent of the student body of 1,150 to 1,200 en-

ment takes part in study abroad. "There are many things to say about the program," Stavig explains. "Perhaps the most significant is what happens to the students when they live with families in other countries."

"Academics has more meaning. Living with a family in Madrid whose members fought in the Spanish Civil War makes history come alive for a student."

Just as important is the report from parents that their sons and daughters have grown up while away. The students say they "discover something about family relationships to help them with their own families."

The Kalamazoo College program is supported by the S.R. Light Trust and the students pay $750 for the first and third quarters and $380 for the second. They receive credits for their work abroad.

One of the greatest benefits to the students, Stavig feels, is "heightened awareness" of the United States from the vantage of a foreign country.

Woman Gets Big, Unusual Yule Greeting

DETROIT (AP) — Barbara McCamant, 25, looked out her window into the front yard Christmas morning. She saw two 4-by-4 foot sheets of masonite hinged together to form a huge greeting card.

On it Don Fox, 23, of Oak Park asked her to be his wife. The typewriter salesman who has dated her for two years wrote on the card:

"Christmas comes but once a year.

So let's spend them together dear.

My life is strong and true I know,

Come rain, sleet, hail, or snow.

Life's not meant to be spent alone.

We can share it in building a home.

I'll close this chapter of my life.

Asking you to be my wife.

I love you, Don.

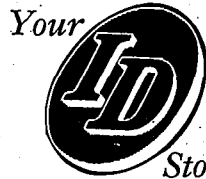

Miss McCamant said the card was beautiful and the sender sweet but added she had not decided whether to accept.

Tax Assessment Equalization Law Results in Misunderstanding

By EARLE L. JESTER.

BOISE (AP)—The 1965 tax assessment equalization law undoubtedly has resulted in as much misunderstanding as any law ever enacted by the Idaho Legislature. It is misunderstood by some tax officials who have a share in administering it.

It is misunderstood by many property owners who must pay the tax bills that result from it. The basic idea is to require property of equal value anywhere in the state to pay the same amount for each dollar of value. The basic problem is that in the past have existed between counties and between classes of property within counties. When those inequities are leveled out, the tax increases must be equal to the tax decreases. It's like building a highway through hilly country. To keep a level, the hills must be cut in and the valleys filled in.

The valleys, in the matter of assessing property for tax purposes, have been Idaho's farmlands and residential property. Figures provided by the state tax commission show that prior to 1966, farmland was assessed at a statewide average of 13 per cent of its full cash value and residential property at only 10 per cent. The tax equalization law requires that those classes of property must be assessed at 20 per cent of their full cash value by 1970. Downtown commercial property already is assessed at a statewide average of 20 per cent. So no increase must be made for that class.

Utility-owned property, in the past assessed at an average of 30 per cent of full cash value, under the equalization law must be assessed at 40 per cent. Thus in the four-year transition period residential property assessments must be doubled — from 10 to 20 per cent; farming made, the law provides that property must be boosted 33 per cent — from 15 to 20 per cent; utility property also, must go up 33 per cent — from 30 per cent to 40 per cent, and downtown commercial property will remain unchanged — at 20 per cent. While these changes are being made, the law provides that tax revenue collected — with some exceptions — can be no greater than it would have been if the law had not been passed. That means that as assessments go up, tax levies must come down. But the law does not say — many people appear to believe — that there can be no tax increase. For the individual home or farm owner whose property is assessed at a lower rate than that of his neighbor, the law can mean a considerable tax increase. For 1966 the total property tax bill is estimated at about $79 million. That compares with $76,303,999 for 1965. The 1965 total, however, was down by more than $2 million from the 1964 figure of $78,237,815. That was a direct result of the passage of the sales tax law by the 1965 Legislature. Many persons have complained that they were misled by backers of the sales tax, who said the latter levy would bring relief to property tax payers. It did — in 1965. But in 1966 not only did the equalization law bring increased taxes for some property owners, because of the levelling out of inequities, but some taxing units which complained they got no sales tax revenue, boosted their property tax levies. An Associated Press questionnaire sent to members of the 1967 Legislature indicate that a majority of the lawmakers favor the principle of the assessment equalization law. But it also shows that many of the legislators believe some changes should be made in the statute. One of the biggest difficulties has been the determining of full cash value of individual pieces of property. The state tax commission has established guidelines, but the actual determination is made by assessors of the 44 counties. Their figures are subject to review by the state agency. As the law now stands, the eventual effect — when the four-year transition period is complete is that downtown commercial property will be paying less in taxes and farm and residential property will be paying more. Backers of the law contend that is proper if equalization is to be achieved. But some legislators have suggested that, just as a separate class was created for utility-owned property, a separate class also should be set up for commercial property, requiring it to be assessed at a higher rate than is farm and residential property. Some legislators also have suggested that the levelling off period be extended beyond the 1970 year, thus permitting a more gradual increase in the taxes which must be boosted to achieve equalization.

Community Program Held At Richfield

RICHFIELD — Community singing opened the annual Richfield school and community Christmas program last week at the high school auditorium. Super F. R. Briggs welcomed the many spectators and small children coming to see Santa Claus. Roger Golcoecher gave the opening narration. A medley of Christmas songs by the seventh and eighth grade students preceded the presentation of the Magic Christmas Bell.

Steven Bowers took the part of Santa using his magic bell to present gifts. Other character parts were played by Luanne Edwards, Brenda Johnson, Donald Stevens and James Kennison. Dance and song numbers were presented by classes with the first grade boys as chocolate puddings, first and second grade girls as Indian maidens, second grade boys took the part of Christmas trees, third grade boys were Swedish children; third and fourth grade girls, Dixie dolls; fifth grade girls, Scotch Lassies; fifth and sixth grade boys, cowboys. Chinese characters were portrayed by a group of fourth grade boys, other fourth and fifth grade boys were jack-in-the-boxes, and sixth grade girls were Spanish dancers.

Piano accompanist was Mrs. Harold Stroud. Community treats were distributed by PTA members to all children and students.

IOOF Lodge At Hagerman Elects

HAGERMAN — Officers were elected at the IOOF lodge meeting last week. George Lemmon was named noble grand; Joseph Howard, vice grand; Rex McNulty, secretary; Halle Conklin, treasurer, and Benjamin Taylor, trustee for a three-year term. Members voted to send a money gift to the Children's Home, Boise. Tentative plans were made to visit the Fairfield lodge Feb. 1. A card party will be held at 8 p.m.-12 a.m. at the IOOF Hall. Color installation with the Rebekah lodge members is set for Jan. 4.

Your Spine and Your Health

By Dr. Ludwig C. Landwehr

There are 300,000 lost man hours every year because of needless body injuries. A great deal of disabling, lifetime injuries come from lifting not done correctly.

When you have to lift something, take a second or two to look the object over. Decide how best to get a good grip on it, get your feet as close to the object as comfort permits and 10° to 12° apart, then squat down, get a firm grip on the object, lift by straightening the legs, keep back straight, letting the big muscles of the legs, arms and shoulders take the full strain.

Setting the object down again is just the reverse of lifting. If a back injury should occur, see your Doctor of Chiropractic immediately. Prompt correction of the disorder will alleviate the pain and discomfort of the injury.

Physical disorders in many parts of the body often have their beginning with injuries to the spine.

Sherry George, Meanea Wed In Temple-Rites

CAREY—Sherry Lynn George became the bride of Millard Leo Meanea II in a ceremony held in the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

President Parley A. Arave officiated. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. D. Lavert George, Blackfoot, and Mr. and Mrs. Millard L. Meanea, Carey.

After the ceremony, the bridegroom's parents hosted a dinner for the wedding party and guests at the Holiday Inn, Idaho Falls. A reception honored the newlyweds on the evening of Nov. 25 in the Blackfoot Fourth Ward Cultural Hall.

Mint green and gold were the colors used in the decorations. The bride greeted guests in her gown of white crystalline brocade designed and made by her mother. The sleeves were long and tapered at the wrists and the neckline was in sweet-heart design. The full skirt cascaded with rows of lace forming a small train in the back. Her veil of white nylon was edged with lace and held by three gold roses. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and gold roses enhanced with mint green streamers.

Brenda Kay George, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were E. Ellabeth Johnson, Blackfoot, and Phyllis Hunt, Carey.

Junior bridesmaid was Nicole George, sister of the bride. Another small sister, Kara Jean George, was flower girl.

Robert Pyrah, Carey, was best man.

The young couple was honored Nov. 26 at a reception in the Carey LDS Ward Cultural Hall.

Members of the reception line greeted friends before a backdrop of white streamers and green fernery. Mrs. Berdine Peck, assisted by Mrs. Betty Hunt, Mrs. Marlene Farnworth and Mrs. Mildred Barton, did the decorating. Ronda Hunt was mistress of ceremonies for a program.

Mrs. Barbara Peck baked and decorated the wedding cake, which she later cut and served. Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Beatrice Meacham, Mrs. Merline Farnworth and Mrs. Berdine Peck. Amy Pyrah was in charge of the guest book.

Guests were seated at quarter tables. Mrs. Irene Farnworth poured punch and Mrs. Beverly Whitby and Mrs. Melba Peck served, assisted in the kitchen by Mrs. Marie Albrethsen and Mrs. Blanche Patterson.

WE GIVE S & H GREEN STAMPS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a handsome, intelligent, successful young man for 3 years. He is 31 and I am 27. He says he loves me and I know I love him—that I am sure.

My problem is, I want to get married and he doesn't. He says he doesn't know of ONE good marriage! Isn't that the most ridiculous thing you've ever heard? We have everything in common and would make an ideal couple, but he says he doesn't want to spoil a perfect romance (ours) by getting married.

He says I am free to date others, but I have no desire to. How can I get him to marry me? I'll try anything.

WANTS TO GET MARRIED

DEAR ABBY: Your "handsome, intelligent, successful" young man is trying to tell you that he can't think of one good reason for marrying YOU. And unless you can come up with one that makes sense to him, you'd better be content with a "perfect romance" because, as I see it, that is all he is going to offer you.

DEAR ABBY: I had a premature baby who lived only a few days. We had named him after his father. Well, two years later, I gave birth to another son. He was full term and very healthy. We wanted this child to carry his father's name, so we also named him after his father. My mother-in-law has given me no peace since. First she said it was "bad luck" to name this baby after the one who had died.

I tried to explain that we named our second son after his father, not the child who died. Then she said it was "against the law" to give two children in the family the same name. Abby, will you please tell her there is no such law and to knock it off?

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Since you've already gone ahead and named the child, your mother-in-law would be wise to keep quiet. But I wouldn't tell her there is no such law until after I'd consulted (a) a lawyer, (b) a clergyman of my faith. (There may be a religious "law" prohibiting it.)

DEAR ABBY: After 17 years of marriage, my husband finally asked me for a divorce because he was "in love" with another woman. She wasn't the first one he ran around with, but I was trying to raise two children, so I forgave him, pretended not to know what was going on and kept it from the children. It broke my heart to give him a divorce because deep down I guess I really loved him.

The children realize now how much I suffered when they were small because of the way their father treated me, but when he and his new wife invite them for dinners, week-ends, and outings they go and enjoy themselves. This is like turning a knife in my heart. What kind of loyalty do you call that?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: The kind that's for sale. And apparently their father was the highest bidder.

DEAR ABBY: I don't have any problems, but I would like to ask a favor of you. If any women write in and want to know if they should go to Alaska to find a man, please advise them to stay where they are. We like the odds the way they are. Thank you.

Bombing Kills Civilians In Hanoi

NEW YORK (AP) — Personal inspection indicates that U.S. bombing has been causing "considerable civilian casualties in Hanoi and its environs for some time past," Harrison E. Salisbury, an assistant managing editor of the New York Times, reported from the North Vietnamese capital Sunday.

Salisbury arrived in Hanoi Friday from the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh on an International Control Commission plane after the State Department had validated his passport for travel to North Vietnam and the North Vietnamese granted him a visa.

Concerning U.S. air raids Dec. 13 and 14, he said that "inspection of several damaged sites and talks with witnesses make it clear that Hanoi residents certainly believe they were bombed by United States planes overhead and that damage certainly occurred right in the center of town."

Communist reports after the raids said U.S. planes attacked within the city limits for the first time in the 22-month air campaign, killing or wounding more than 100 civilians and destroying scores of buildings.

U.S. officials denied that American planes had bombed the city and suggested that North Vietnamese anti-aircraft fire or missiles could have caused the damage. But they pointed out the possibility of accidental bombings within Hanoi and said such an accident could not be entirely ruled out.

Infant Dies

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Angelina Crocetti, mother of singer Dean Martin, is dead following a lengthy illness.

2 Red China Officials To Face Arrest

BEIGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Li Shao-chi, president of Communist China, and Teng Hsiao-ping, secretary general of the Chinese Communist party, are facing arrest soon, a Yugoslav report from Peking said today.

The Peking-based correspondent of the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said a Red Guard campaign against the two leaders has reached its climax and he predicted that Liu and Teng "do not have much time left in liberty."

Trucks with loudspeakers drove around Peking today announcing that Liu and Teng "were leaders of the so-called black or anti-Mao Tse-tung lines and that they have to be crushed," the report said.

In another development Ching Ching, wife of party chairman Mao Tse-tung, Sunday demanded the arrest of all opponents of the teaching of her husband. She said that every real revolutionary has the right to arrest opponents of the teaching of Mao Tse-tung, the report said.

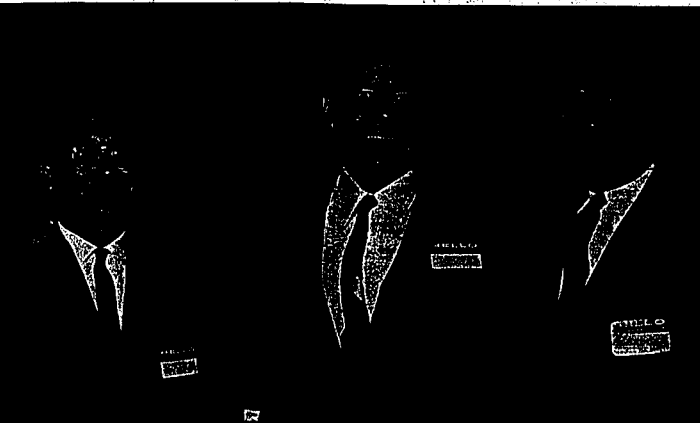

The Tanjug report said this was a green light for the Red Guards to begin new activities.

U. S., Allies Spend More For Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says the United States and its NATO allies now are spending more dollars than a lesser share of their total economies for defense than five years ago.

Figures submitted to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee show that while defense spending for North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations increased from $64.7 billion in 1961 to $74.2 billion in 1965, the percentage of gross national product devoted to arms dropped from 8.3 percent to 7.1 percent.

U.S. defense spending went from $47.8 billion to $51.5 billion in this period but as a percentage of gross national product, dropped from 10.1 to 8.5, the figures showed. The percentage is expected to be about 8.8 this year.

Methodist Church Has Jazz Service

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "The gospel is a happening. A happiness, taking place."

So said the Rev. A. Cecil Williams during a Christmas service conducted Sunday at San Francisco's Glide Memorial Methodist Church.

The service, itself somewhat of a happening, featured jazz tidings of Christmas.

While the organ of Richard Todd and the alto saxophone of John Handy wove together the old, new, hymns and blues, the church welcomed bearded hippies and booted teen-agers along with powdered matrons and vested stockbrokers.

The Rev. Mr. Williams stepped down from the altar to tell his congregation that "this happening of Christmas means being with men, as they are and being able to participate where they are."

The congregation received a parting blessing from the congregation minister, the Rev. R. Vaughn Smith: "In the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, we say Merry Christmas to all you cats."

French People Are Practical Even During Teen Years

PARIS — (NEA) — No one can say the French aren't practical — even in their youth. When Sylvie Helene Debat, a 10-year-old French schoolgirl, was asked whether she preferred marriage or a career, she answered, "A career. It's more secure."

You can lose your husband or maybe not even get one. So it's better to have a job.

Sylvie is one of six French teenagers who shared opinions and aspirations with six American teenagers who were flown to Paris as finalists in the Singer World Stylermaker Contest.

During the American girls' stay in Paris for the final contest, judging a symposium was held and the teenagers of the two countries exchanged ideas on such subjects as marriage, dating, clothes, careers and Franco-American relations.

Marriage, of course, got prime consideration. A French American couple took time to tell the six French girls said they wouldn't marry an American.

They are more childish and immature than a Frenchman, was the consensus. And although the girls admitted it would be nice to be helped with the taxes as American husbands help their wives, they agreed that they would prefer a husband who wouldn't drink and mean himself. Vive la double standard!

The only man'selle who spoke up for the U.S. male was Anita Newman of Paris whose mother did marry an American and didn't at all resent being helped with the chores.

The young American girls got back their own by saying they preferred the more conventional appearance of their countrymen to the shaggy hair and light pants worn by French boys.

Parents, the French contestants believe, are more respected in their country than in the United States but think American girls seem more able to make friends of their mothers and fathers.

Miniskirts and mod fashions came under discussion. Both groups like them and wear them for casual occasions, but the girls from both countries agreed that older women look ridiculous in the new young styles. When asked what they meant by "older," they said, "20."

That sure shook-up the fashion reporters covering the event.

Although the girls were dressed enough alike to show that young fashions seem to be universal, there was one difference.

Quiet Vigil Held Outside San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — About 100 persons held a quiet Christmas Day vigil outside San Quentin Prison, protesting sentences of 64 condemned men.

The group, including folk singer John Baez, sat or stood in front of the main gate for three hours.

The committee sponsoring the vigil, the Ad Hoc committee for Christmas Clemency, asked for appeals to Gov. Edmund G. Brown to extend executive clemency to the men on death row.

Last week, Brown decided to review the cases of the men to see if any could be commuted to life in prison without possibility of parole.

"There's a chance he'll do it," Miss Baez said. "And we've got to keep doing the few things that might make some difference."

5 Belgians Share Control Of Company

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — Radio Kinshasa today announced the names of five Belgians who will share control of Union Miniere du Haut Katanga for the remainder of this year.

They are Jean Gontze, Robert Cayron, Sergio Fontaine, Jean Jacques Siquet and Michel Boucat. All are operational directors of the mining company, which the Congo plans to "commercialize" Jan. 1. The broadcast did not say who appointed them.

Also named to the British seat on the board was Lord Collyington, President of Tanganyika concessions, which has 15 per cent of both old and new Union Miniere.

Congolese President Joseph D. Mobutu announced "commercialization" last week in the wake of Union Miniere's refusal to establish its headquarters here rather than in Brussels, where it is now located.

Beginning Jan. 1, the Congo will set up its own Union Miniere under 55 per cent Congolese ownership, 15 per cent for Tanganyika concessions and 30 per cent on the open market.

Radio Kinshasa said the appointments of five Belgians to the 15-member board of temporary company indicates the Congo move is not anti-Belgian. The broadcast added that the country supports the decision but that the "intellectual, student and avant-garde community" demands outright nationalization.

The Congolese on the temporary board are: Jean-Baptiste Kibwe, Sen. Rudolph Yav, Sen. Antoine Kiwawa and Deputy Jean Derriroyard.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. My parents are both deceased. During his lifetime my father bought some stocks which are now worthless and which I inherited. This past year I sold some of my own stocks and made a profit. May I apply the loss from my father's stock against my own profits, in order to cut down on the tax I have to pay?

A. Wait a minute, now. Suppose we go through this — step by step.

You sold some stock, at a profit. Your profit is taxable as a capital gain and should be reported on the income tax return you file for this year.

Now, if you have any capital losses, you should report them. They would offset your capital gains and reduce your total tax bill.

But you can't dredge up something out of the dim past and claim it as a capital loss. The Internal Revenue Service will jump all over you — if you can't prove you realized the loss in the year for which you claim it.

On inherited stock your "cost basis" is the value put on the stock for estate settlement purposes. That value is usually the market value of the stock on the date of the death of the person who left it.

If it had no value at that time, you didn't realize any loss on your inherited stock.

But, if it had some value when you inherited it, you can claim a loss.

When stock becomes worthless, you report your entire cost basis as a capital loss for the year in which the stock lost all its value. You list it as having a zero value, as of Dec. 31 of that year.

You must, however, report the loss on the worthless stock on the tax return you file for the year in which it became worthless.

In your case, if the stock became worthless in 1966, you can use that loss to offset an equal amount of capital gains you realized in the same year.

If the stock became worthless in some previous year, you must file an amended tax return to file an amended tax return to claim the loss. You can file an amended return back for seven years on worthless securities.

Q. — About a year ago, while living in New York, I signed up with a mutual fund to make 150 payments over 12 years. At times since then I have sent in double the amount of payment agreed upon. Will this enable me to complete my contract ahead of time or will I have to make 150 payments over the full 12 years?

A. Doubling up the amount paid at any time will complete your investment plan sooner. It is clear that you have a contractual plan — a method of steadily investing in shares of a mutual fund.

That type of investing has been in the news lately. There's much to be said for and against contractual plans. As a matter of fact, they are banned in some states. Just the same, they do provide an easy road to steady investing.

In answer to your specific inquiry, doubling up the amount you send in on even one payment reduced your total number of payments and shortens the time span over which you will pay in.

Q. I own stocks of four different electric and gas utility companies. I went to my broker and told him I wanted to buy stock of still one other utility company. He told me not to put all my eggs in one basket. Then, he turned around, advised me to sell all my stocks and put the money into one mutual fund. Does this make sense to you?

A. Not to me. The stocks you listed in your letter are all of high quality. They have shown good growth in value over the years and are good dividend producers. I think they would be less likely to crash than the mutual fund the broker mentioned.

Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer those queries.

Kimberly Edges Devils To Win Hoop Tourney

BY BOB MAGEE
Times-News Sports Editor

MURTAUGH — Larry Eller jumped in 17 points in the third quarter Friday night to give Kimberly enough of a lead to hold off a fourth quarter Murtaugh rally for a 61-59 victory and the Snake River Basketball Tournament title. In the first game Valley downed a stubborn Hansen squad 55-40 for the consolation title. Kimberly led most of the game with the Devils managing only small leads in the opening minutes, once late in the second quarter and once at the start of the third quarter. The Bulldogs led the entire fourth quarter with the Devils coming the closest when Ron Anderson dropped in a triple with one second left in the game. Kimberly held his highest lead with 3:50 to go in the quarter at 41-34 following two field goals by Larry and a free throw by Gary Eller.

The Bulldogs led 32-43 going into the final period, but the Devils cut it by four quick points by Paul Wornell and Quessnell.

The Devils' next five points came on free throws, three by Quessnell and two by Anderson, during which time the Bulldogs also accounted for five points on buckets by McMaster and Morrill and a free throw by Larry Eller.

Eller hit another good second later to keep Kimberly well in front at 50-38.

With just over two minutes to go Rambo and Anderson connected to close the gap 55-58. McMaster hit a free throw at 1:20 for Kimberly's final point.

After that the Bulldogs started to slow down the ball, but Quessnell hit a free throw and Anderson hit his final basket at Wornell stole a Bulldog pass and tossed it to Anderson under the basket.

The buzzer sounded as the ball went through the net.

In the consolation game the Devils took a 20-12 edge over Hansen. Hansen did not score until 1:34 was left in the second quarter. The Bulldogs then dropped in a long jumper. Valley maintained their big edge for the remainder of the first half.

But Hansen's comeback began about five minutes left to within one point of the Vikings.

It was a nip and tuck battle through the remainder of the third quarter and the early part of the fourth quarter. But Hansen cooled again and Valley got the edge in the closing minutes of the consolation championship of the tournament.

The Utah experiment, while stopping the clock on everything has added to the same length of time. Besides, the length of a basketball game is seldom a consideration for sportswriters with a deadline to beat. The game has nearly constant action.

The Utah experiment opens up another line of thinking. Say you and I are on the baseline. You give me a shimmy and drive past. I know you're in for a cinch two and if I knock you out of bounds with a knee you have to start over with an out-of-bounds play. I get a foul that is meaningless unless I have four already. Even by forcing you to shoot a free throw my odds have been increased on the play.

If the design of the experiment, to reduce fouling, the suggestion would be that two points be automatically awarded if the shooter is fouled. That would put a much greater and surer penalty on fouling than making the offender pay take two shots from 15 feet away.

Also, we have long been great believers in free throw shooting. There are only three important things in basketball, offense, defense and foul shooting. Of them the easiest to learn is free throw shooting, yet it remains the worst. Excluding infrequent pressure there is no variance in free throw shooting, no wind, no angle change, nothing. It lends itself to automatic repetition. Yet a team hitting 70 per cent is considered doing remarkably well. Most are around 50 per cent when the season ends.

If the national rules committee believes length of games and scoring must be reduced, it will be hard to find a different method. This plan hardly discourages fouling and in a great many circumstances encourages it.

And the overridable factor is if the option of ball control is returned to the offensive team, 75 per cent of all games will wind up in a deep stall.

Wichita Hires Football Coach

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Boyd Converse, former coach of the University of Kansas, was named head football coach Saturday at Wichita University.

Converse, 46, who resigned earlier this month under pressure of two losing seasons, was named head coach at the University of Massachusetts, where he had previously served a year before moving to Wichita in 1966.

Army's Cahill Is Named As Coach of Year

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Bill Cahill is a nice Christmas present, said Army's Coach of the Year, who was named Coach of the Year by the National Football Writers Association of America.

The 46-year-old ex-infantry officer succeeded Paul Dietzel as head coach after Dietzel left for South Carolina just before Army was to start spring practice.

Working on short notice, Cahill, Army freshman coach for seven years, rounded up a staff of assistants and led Army to its best season since Earl (Red) Blaik's final year. That was 1958 when Army posted an 8-0-1 record.

Under Cahill, Army's young team racked up an 8-1 record and beat Navy in the climactic game 20-7. The only losses were to Notre Dame's up-ranked team 25-0 and to Tennessee 35-7.

In the nationwide balloting, Cahill won by a decisive margin over 32 other coaches. He received more than 27 per cent of the 561 ballots cast.

Behind him in the balloting were Art Patashnik of Notre Dame, Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, Vince Dooley of Georgia and Paul Bryant of Alabama.

Cahill figures to have another good season next year. He has 19 letters back, including his three key sophomores of 1966, quarterback Steve Lindell, end Gary Karras and Tailback Charley Jarvis.

Army lost three starters from the offensive team and five regulars of the defensive team.

Big Ten Officials Say Schools Will Toughen Policing Of Athletic Branch

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois' athletic director, replacing resigned Doug Mills, said this statement:

"With these revelations, it seems that our committee must take a much more positive role to assure that we do have complete faculty control of athletics—a requirement for membership in the Big Ten."

Commissioner Reed, alarmed not so much by the scope of the Illinois under-the-table dealings as by the fact they went on for five years without somebody blowing the whistle, said the time has come for tougher policing.

"I think we may have to take new directions of inquiry," said Reed, whose office has a regularly assigned investigator. "We probably will have to concentrate more on investigation of players after they enroll."

The Illinois slush fund, now dissolved, was a booster project maintained outside the university, but tapped at the discretion of the head coaches. It was exposed to Dr. David D. Henry, school president, last week just as Elliott was about to be named athletic director, replacing resigned Doug Mills.

The illegal payments included grants ranging from $15 to $50 a month beyond regular scholarship limits.

While the names of the seven current football players and 17 former athletes were withheld, identity of five suspended basketball players was made known.

This irked Combes, who said he wanted a school hearing for the five. They include two starters, Rich Jones, leading Illinois scorer, and Ron Dunlap; reserve Steve Kuberski; freshman Randy Crews of Bradley, Ill.; and a currently scholastically ineligible player, Steve Spanish, sophomore from Moline, Ill.

As a make-shift Illinois team defeated California, 87-87, in overtime at the Chicago Stadium Friday night, Combes asserted: "I'll resign. I'll do anything, but I want these kids protected. You just don't tell them they're suspended without at least giving them a proper school hearing to tell their side of the story."

Call for close scrutiny of athletic operations by conference schools came immediately from Commissioner Bill Reed, yet to set a target date for official league action in the case, and from the Illinois Faculty Senate committee on athletics.

Prof. Samuel K. Gove, committee chairman, Saturday said this statement:

"With these revelations, it seems that our committee must take a much more positive role to assure that we do have complete faculty control of athletics—a requirement for membership in the Big Ten."

Commissioner Reed, alarmed not so much by the scope of the Illinois under-the-table dealings as by the fact they went on for five years without somebody blowing the whistle, said the time has come for tougher policing.

"I think we may have to take new directions of inquiry," said Reed, whose office has a regularly assigned investigator. "We probably will have to concentrate more on investigation of players after they enroll."

The Illinois slush fund, now dissolved, was a booster project maintained outside the university, but tapped at the discretion of the head coaches. It was exposed to Dr. David D. Henry, school president, last week just as Elliott was about to be named athletic director, replacing resigned Doug Mills.

UCLA Favored In L.A. Classic As Major Holiday Tests Begin

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Top-ranked UCLA and Lew Alcindor are the overwhelming choice to win the Los Angeles Classic, one of the major college basketball Christmas tournaments scheduled this holiday week. Louisville, Texas Western, New Mexico, Houston and Kansas, other teams in the Associated Press Top Ten to see action, are favored, too, but by a far smaller margin than Alcindor, the 7-foot-1-3/8 sophomore

South Drops Two Games, But Has Chance To Come Back In Monday Contest

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The South blew a couple Christmas Eve but gets a chance to come back Monday in the North-South game, the only event scheduled on the annual extravaganza of postseason college football games. The South holds an 11-6-1 margin in the clash between the all-star squad of seniors from the South and the North. The game in Miami will be televised nationally by ABC-TV. Kickoff time is 4:15 EST.

Parilli Is Honored As Comeback Player

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Babe Parilli of the Boston Patriots, who has had image problems in the past, corrected the vision of most of his detractors when he was named winner of the Comeback of the Year award in the American Football League by The Associated Press. Parilli, a 36-year-old veteran of 13 pro seasons, got the nod from the three-man committees of sports writers and sportscasters balloting in each of the nine league cities by drawing eight votes to five for his nearest competitor, halfback Bert Osofsky of Kansas City.

Solons Storm Past Cold Pilots 92-27

GOODING—The Gooding Senators caught the Glens Ferry Pilots ice cold in the first half, piled up a 25-0 lead and hurridly won a 92-27 decision Friday night.

Larry Adamson, who played last year's All-Star game, led the Senators to a 10-man scoring parade with 15 points. Three other men joined him in double figures.

After being shutout in the first quarter, the Pilots' offense trailed 49-12 at halftime. Gooding's attack was in full swing in the second half, and the Pilots were unable to get up a defensive pass in the fourth quarter. The Pilots' defense was unable to get up a defensive pass in the fourth quarter.

"It's ridiculous," Parilli said. "It makes me laugh. What are they going to say when I have a good game? I've been a pro for 13 years and slow starts are my patterns—just like a pig out or zig-zag. I thought I got off to a better start, but I'm not concerned."

Coach Mike Holovac also noted Parilli's slow start after his poor 1955 season, but said:

"Sure I'm not pleased with the way he's been going, but it hasn't entirely been his fault. In the movies we've found the receivers making mistakes running their patterns and fouling up plays. I'll stick with Parilli all the way."

And he did. The Patriots started to move behind him—and they eventually wound up making their move at the Eastern Division title.

But then Parilli had reached an important decision early in the season as the critics tore him apart, and the fans booed him and booed him.

"Sure I heard the boos," Parilli said. "How could I miss it? But I told myself if I let them bother me I would be defeated. So I decided to keep on playing the football no matter what."

That was good enough. Parilli completed 381 of 582 passes for 2,721 yards and 20 touchdowns, leading the Patriots to an 8-4-2 record compared to 4-8-2 in 1955.

And now they can't retire Parilli again—until next year.

Aberdeen Is 45-40 Winner Over Wendell

WENDELL—Aberdeen opened right, stormed into a 21-12 lead and then fought to maintain it in defeating the Wendell Trojans 45-40.

Wendell led only once in the game at 5:4 before the visitors started hitting from all angles. Wendell pulled back into a contest in the second quarter, then slipped behind by 12 in the third.

The Trojans made a determined bid in the final quarter and pulled to within five before four straight turnovers blew them out of the game.

Much of Wendell's misery could be found at the 24 attempis.

Warriors Whip Royals 124-112

CINCINNATI (AP)—Rick Barry scored 50 points while leading the San Francisco Warriors to a 124-112 National Basketball Association victory over the Cincinnati Royals Sunday night in a game that was a toss up until the last six minutes.

The Warriors took a 4-0 lead at start, but the Royals tied it repeatedly and pulled ahead by a few points several times.

Four Boxers Elected To Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Archie Moore, the former light heavyweight champion and one of the great scientific boxers of all time, and flashy Kid Gavilan, the former welterweight king from Cuba, have been elected to the Boxing Hall of Fame.

Their elections were announced Friday along with the election of another former light heavyweight champion, Battling Levinsky, by the Old Timers Committee. James (Deaf) Burke, an English champion in the 19th century, also was enshrined in the Pioneer corner.

Moore, an outstanding boxer who was deliberately avoided by a number of light heavyweight champions, finally got his chance when he was 35, or possibly 36.

No matter the age, he soundly whipped Joey Maxim and won the light heavyweight title on Dec. 17, 1932. Old Archie must have been successful in the 175-pound division crown and finally retired after losing in two attempts at the heavyweight title.

He never did lose the light heavyweight crown in the ring. Gavilan, now 40 and living in Cuba, was one of the brightest stars of the early era of prize boxing. The slick, fast-punching Hawk of Camaguey won the welterweight title in 1901 by defeating Johnny Britton and Billy Graham.

The Kid made six successful title defenses, hopped up Bob Olsen in a middleweight fight, and then lost his welterweight crown on a controversial decision to Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia on Oct. 20, 1934.

But Cantrell and Staples fired the final period, caught the Bulls at the buzzer on Dave Bing's 26-foot jump shot.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Detroit Pistons rallied from a 15-point deficit in the fourth quarter to beat the Baltimore Bullets 129-127 in overtime in a National Basketball Association game Sunday night.

Detroit, trailing 93-78 entering the final period, caught the Bulls at the buzzer on Dave Bing's 26-foot jump shot.

Dave DeBusschere then combined for 13 points in the extra session to move the Pistons into a 15-point lead over the St. Louis Hawks in the NBA's Western division.

The junior ranking includes: Dave Engen and Ladd Christensen, Salt Lake City; Lane Munroe, Reno; Jay Albert, Seattle; Thor Mjoeen, Seattle; Dave Sathcer, Spokane; Tom Okerland, Seattle; "Lumpy" Poulson, Squaw Valley, Calif.; and Judy Place, Seattle.

Full Court Press Lets T.F. Top Buhl

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

BUHL—Twin Falls' full court press blunted a torrid ChuckCullings-led attack by the Buhl Indians Friday night and carried the Bruins to a 70-49 victory. Cullings, sizzling in the first half and particularly in the second quarter, fired Buhl into a 34-31 halftime edge. But as the third quarter began the Bruins' press took the ball away from the Indians five out of six times and Twin Falls turned them all into turnovers. On the seventh, Buhl missed a shot and Fred Cantrell drove for a crumple to net 12 unanswered points in the first 1:49 of the second half. Buhl recovered as Cullings, lost some of his touch in the last half. Still the lanky senior carried 31 points—23 of them in the first half.

Twin Falls, getting three straight field goals from Bill Van Engelen, opened hot and hurried into a 10-2 lead. Then Van Engelen sprained an ankle and left for the night. Buhl immediately came back into contention. Van Engelen's absence was made up for by Junior Von Wells who dominated the backboards and played his finest game of the year—until he fouled out in the fourth quarter.

With Van Engelen's early impetus, Twin Falls led through the first quarter but Cullings carried the Indians back in the second period. His field goal tied it at 19-19 and then came a great shooting exhibition. Cullings pumped from the top of the key, hit a couple of hooks, drove for more points and generally tore Twin Falls' defense apart. He wound up the quarter with 16 points—Buhl had 21.

Twin Falls went to work in the second half when Jay Ulrich stole the ball and drove for a crumple. Cantrell hit the next two layups and Staples got a third. Then Cantrell came back with two more to widen the lead to 43-34.

Buhl rallied to within six points with just under three minutes left in the period when Cullings hit five straight points. But Cantrell and Staples fired

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

STELLA

MONDAY, Dec. 26 — Born to-day, you have probably gained a reputation for self-determination and for not depending upon others, either to do your work or to make your decisions for you. A natural leader, you have considerable executive ability and a genuine talent for making orders and demands sound like mere suggestions that others are willing to take.

You women, though you will probably never gain the circle of influence that men born on this day will may, will no doubt reign supreme in your own homes and most likely in your own neighborhoods. You will be able to direct your children wisely, to aid your husbands in their career and, in general, to gain the admiration of your friends and family for the smooth way in which you carry off your myriad duties.

You have excellent judgment in your dealings with people and even more so in your handling of your own affairs. You never make the mistake of not allowing yourself enough time to accomplish what you set out to do. Success should not be long in coming to one born on this date.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Tuesday, Dec. 27
CAPRICORN (Jan. 20 - Jan. 20) — The Capricorn who is willing to do some extensive brain work should reap exceptional gains. Don't let another get ahead of you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Social contacts may be more important than talent today on the employment scene. Make it a point to entertain someone in authority.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — New business or professional opportunities could well result.

Dominica Crackdown Makes Crooked Peso-Earning Hard

By ROBERT BERRILLEZ
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — It's getting tougher to make a dishonest peso in Santo Domingo.

Black-market cigarettes have disappeared from the streets. Contraband liquor is hard to find. Unlicensed gambling spots are being closed.

Worse yet, the government is slipping the market where smokers once could buy Christmas bonuses in advance for 80-85 per cent of value. In the past, a man hard up for cash could count on selling his month's year-end bonus in July or November at varying rates.

Dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo started the bonuses a year ago for government employees. The practice spread to some private firms with little later trouble trimming it.

The Council of State, first post-Trujillo government, tried to eliminate it in 1962 and narrowly brought on a workers' revolt. The provisional government;

Norwegians Borrow More Expressions

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norwegians are borrowing more and more words from English, or inventing Norwegian words based on foreign expressions.

When a Norwegian is going for a checkup, he asks the doctor to "sjekke opp".

A man who stopped sending Christmas cards announced his intention to "skippe" them.

A young man and girl going steady are often said to "match" each other well. The same can be said about colors that match.

Foreign words like beatnik, crushproof, freestyle, playboy, soft drinks, refill, spray, juice, entertainer, fan, floor-show, paperback, story, drive (enter-price), finish and team are about to be absorbed. "Know-how" is playing an important part in Norwegian business life.

WORKS FOR DEGREE
SHOSHONE — John Mallavin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Florentino Mallavin, Shoshone, has completed requirements for a Doctor of Philosophy degree in microbiology from the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan. Dr. Mallavin is a graduate of Shoshone High School.

U. S. Funds Unavailable For Drains

RUPERT — The City Council has received word that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will not participate in financing for storm drains throughout the city.

HUB officials stated that because of lack of money at the present time they would be unable to provide matching funds for the project until a later date. In other business at last week's council meeting, Westinghouse was awarded the bid for lighting within the city limits along Highway 24 with a bid of $13,823.80. A lower bid was refused because it failed to meet specifications. Other bidders were Gem Electric and Columbia Electric.

Antonio Quillan, who asked permission to put a trailer house on his property, was advised of the ordinance requiring written permission from property owners within 100 feet of the proposed trailer site, and he was instructed to obtain this permission.

Mayor Wendell Johnson was authorized to sign an agreement with the irrigation company to drain storm water into the canals. As in the past, the council will give $10 Christmas bonuses to all city employees.

The council has purchased a sign-to-announce Minico-High School ball games and other such events, and pending approval of the Chamber of Commerce and park committee, the sign will be placed on the Railroad park near the five-point entry to the city.

The council sent an application to the retirement board requesting a one-year extension for Police Judge Jake Wall, in accordance with a requirement for all city employees over 65 years of age.

Beer licenses were issued to the Midway Service, Eastside Grocery, Junction Chevron Service and Cafe, Harnings Cafe, Pizzeria-Haven and Reeves Market.

Building permits included a new home permit to Marvin J. Pilman, $13,500; Thomas M. Wymer, remodel, $300; LaVonne Green, to convert a garage to a beauty shop, $2,500, and Bruce Johnson, remodel, $1,300.

GOES TO GERMANY
JEROME — Mrs. Elery W. Albertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Jones, Jerome, has gone to Frankfurt, Germany, to join her husband who is in the U. S. Armed Forces there. The Albertsons have resided in Portland since their marriage in July, 1964.

Declo-Grade School Has Yule Program

DECLO — Guests were welcomed to the annual Christmas program of the Declo Grade School, by Kendall Dayley, principal.

Two hundred and twenty students participated in the program of Christmas carols, under the direction of Mrs. Melvin Darrington, music teacher. "Oh Holy Night" was sung by Eldon Wood, music teacher at Declo High School, accompanied by Mrs. Wood.

The sixth grade class was represented by Janet Matthews, Doreen Osterhout, Laura Bell, Joe Schmidt, Douglas Darrington and Phillip Darrington, as they sang "It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas." A fifth-grade quintet, composed of Danny Phillips, Tim Preston, Phillip Darrington, Scott Priest and Jimmy Darrington, presented "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem."

"Silver Bells" was sung by three Matthews families, Steve, Tim, Janet, Patricia, Sandra, Joan, Gayla, Sharon, John, Scott, Shirley and Pamela. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. John Matthews.

THE JUNIOR REALM

with MARTHA LEE

Q. How can a girl become popular in her first year in high school? My older brothers and sister tell me that it is more important for me to be popular than to be in a group of girls. I thought brings to me a lot of confusion because I have always felt that a good student has a better position on campus than a popular one does. Can you have your boys and girls discuss this for me?

A. Geraldine, Panelist: Diane Daniels, high school, Utah; Sadie Ellingham, college, Texas; Peter Gregory, high school, Maryland; Joel Loving, college, Iowa.

Popularity is fickle and ephemeral. Good marks any with you all of your life and bring to you a prestige that popularity could never bring to you. A high school student with good grades doesn't usually have to seek friends. Those who respect a good student will come to you.

We know of no high school student who is a friend to everybody in your school, but you can attract the top students by getting good grades. Pick out the boys and girls you want to have as friends and plan your introductions to them. The boys are easier to handle.

Builders Experience Best, Worst Times During 1966

By DAVE SMITH
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—For builders, 1966 was the best of times and the worst of times. The construction industry as a whole set records, while one sector—home-building—entered its worst slump in two decades.

The U.S. Commerce Department estimated outlays for all construction at a record $75.9 billion, a sizable gain over the $68.5 billion spent in 1965.

But privately financed housing construction, expected to jump from 1965's 1,425,000 units to 1,515,000 in 1966, plummeted instead. The year's total of 1.2

million housing starts was that low only once before since World War II—in the 1957 recession.

And in October, the seasonally adjusted rate of housing starts dropped to 848,000, a 20-year low. The previous lowest annual rate of starts since World War II was 857,000 in November, 1964.

The 1966 growth in dollar volume was larger than expected, despite the housing sag, partly because of a 32 per cent expansion in industrial construction, but also because of climbing building costs, economists said.

For 1967, they predict a slight boost to $76.1 billion in dollar volume but cuts in physical volume in building. In all, considering government efforts to bolster the housing market and cutbacks in public building, the Commerce Department says, "both private and public outlays will level off in the coming year."

The home-building recession was created, economists said, as a somewhat ironic by-product of a generally booming U.S. economy. Savings and loan firms, which normally underwrite about one-third of the nation's building mortgages, found safer investments elsewhere than among the small, high-risk builders who normally form a large part of their clientele. Scores of smaller builders went out of business as credit tightened on them, and the National Association of Home Builders estimated late in the year that one of every six contractors in the nation would be engaged in other work before the tight money situation eased in 1967.

EMPLOYMENT DECLINES

BOISE (AP)—Employment in Idaho declined seasonally during November but still remained at an all-time record high for the month, the State Department of Employment reported Friday.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Even as you and I, the first families of show business express themselves and reveal their taste and their interests in the selection of Christmas cards.

Bing Crosby, as usual, sent along greetings accompanied by a recent family portrait. So did Carol Channing.

Lawrence Welk's card, with a handy 1967 calendar added, was a picture of his professional family dressed in Dickensian costumes. Singer Robert Merrill, his wife and two children, were shown, in caricature, sitting in a bus driven by Santa Claus.

Roger Williams has a Christmas card that carries a reproduction of an oil portrait of a child, painted by his wife, Joy. Arthur Godfrey's card shows him with his horse, Goldie.

Zev Bylchop and family notified recipients of their card of a contribution made. In their names, to the Southern California Variety Club, Bea Benaderet, whose series "Petticoat Junction" costars a little train, uses the railroad theme for her holiday greetings.

The Perry Comos, and Danny Thomas' daughter, Marlo, have Christmas cards on religious themes—Barbara Stanwyck stars a fat and jolly Santa Claus.

Red Skelton, wife and daughter sent out a sleek golden card embossed with a stylized reindeer and Christmas tree. Jackie Gleason stayed with his old favorite: red velvet paper with gold printing carrying the greetings of the season.

Yale Summers, costar of "Daktari," has a woodcut card showing a gentle lion—not cross-eyed, however—lying down with a lamb. Phyllis Diller's greetings are conveyed by a surprisingly discreet, little card—but it accompanies an enormous pepper shaker.

Betty White and her husband, Allen Ludden, have a card showing a brilliant cardinal against the background of an evergreen tree—appropriate indeed for a pair of bird watchers.

Burt Reynolds of "Hawk" also had a card starring birds—doves.

Joan Crawford, as always, wrote a short personal note of greetings on her holly-sprigged Christmas stationery. And Bill Dana remained completely in comic character with a page from a greeting card catalogue which had a cline pasted to a corner and carried the note:

Wins Shot

RUPERT—High scratch winner at the Mindoka Bowman shoot was Denis Jettis with a score of 520.

Winning the high handicap shoot was Mrs. Devon Dockstader with a 584. High team score was 1177 for Dennis Dockstader and Mike Reynolds. Other teams were Mr. and Mrs. Denis Jettis, 1188; Fred Goetz and Ed Vaughn, 1088; and Mr. and Mrs. Devon Dockstader, 1078.

"Thought you'd rather have the money."

Meanwhile, this reporter, in lieu of cards, would like to wish everyone a happy holiday period and a prosperous New Year.

Britons Are Worried About New Standards Set For U.S. Automobiles

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LONDON (NEA)—To say that British car-makers have been thrown into a tizzy by the new American auto safety code is to put a stiff upper lip on the face of disaster.

Just reading through the list of 23 car-safety standards to be enforced in the United States starting next September, has been enough to panic most motorcar manufacturers here.

Among other things, the list provides for safety belts for all seats, unbreakable door locks, windshield defrosters and defoggers, collapsible steering columns and improved tire standards.

The reason why British car makers are in such a flap is that their 1968 models are already in the prototype stage. It is too late to make the changes required by the new American code in time to meet the September deadline, they claim.

Inasmuch as the United States is Britain's biggest customer for cars, this country stands to lose a large part of this export business, which has an $11 billion annual turnover.

This, on top of the current credit squeeze and wages freeze, which have cut down domestic sales, should just about sound the death-knell for the British motorcar industry, the pessimists predict.

After a summit meeting here in London, the Society of Motorcar Manufacturers, representing 24 firms, has asked the U. S. Traffic Safety Agency for additional time to comply fully with the code. They are also hoping that the American agency will show flexibility in enforcing the new safety standards as far as British cars are concerned.

In asking for an extension of the deadline, the British firms have made it clear that they are all in favor of improved highway safety. Anything that will cut down the appalling road accident rate is as welcome here as in the United States.

Privately, a senior designer told me that he is worried about some of the structural changes which the U. S. safety code would require for small cars. For example, doors will have to withstand a 2,000-pound blow in a head-on collision, or a 2,000-pound side-swing.

"Such a blow would not only send the doors of a minicar flying open, but send the mini flying into the next county," the engineer explained.

Again, if head restraints are introduced into Morris Mini-Minors and other small cars in order to prevent "whiplash" injuries, they will block rearward vision.

As for the windshield wipers and washers demanded by the new U.S. safety code, the area they are about the time factor. The manufacturers are not so much worried about the costs as they are about the time factor. With the 1968 models already well-advanced, any structural changes will mean that new prototypes will have to be made and tested in experiments like barrier collisions, then the necessary alterations will have to be made before tooling-up. There just isn't time for this before the September deadline, it is argued here.

Shoe Production Increase Viewed

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Shoe production in New England will increase to 220 million pairs in 1967, predicts the executive vice president of the area's Shoe and Leather Association.

Maxwell Field said New England employs about one-third of the nation's shoemakers. This year they turned out 210 million pairs.

Sign Made

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Gov. Daniel J. Evans has had a sign made which he plans to post in his office prior to the opening of the legislature Jan. 9.

The sign, taken from a New York Surrogate Court decision of 1868, reads: "No man's life, liberty or property shall be taken while the legislature is in session."

Calendar Project Set By Legion

SHOSHONE—The Legion Post here will again sponsor birthday calendar project starting Jan. 1. To serve on the committee are Joe Pagosa, Harry Eden, Robert Haddock, Hal Ross and Omer Shook.

Elmer Terry reports a school oratorical contest will be held this year with entrants from Dietrich and Shoshone high schools. Local contest will be Feb. 22, district and area contests will follow and the state contest will be held March 30.

The annual spelling contest for Lincoln county schools will be held April 17, with Herb Love and Harry Eden again chairmen.

The American Legion magazine again will be ordered for Dietrich and Shoshone school libraries.

A letter has been sent by the local Legion post commending Department Cmdr. Chet Floyd, Gooding, for protesting student action at Idaho State University, Pocatello, which would sanction communist groups to be organized on the campus.

The letters of commendation will also go to Adjutant Lou Babb, Boise, and Sixth District Cmdr. Hewitt Hawkes, Downey. Roger Kelley reports about $500 has been spent on the Legion building's septic tank and roof repair to the building.

Victor Bozuto, membership chairman, reports 67 members.

Leo Vogel Will Be Transferred

Leo Vogel, who has served as district manager of Mountain States Telephone Co. in Twin Falls for several years, announced today that he is being transferred to New York City about the first of the year.

Mr. Vogel will work in the personnel department in field management training and development at American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

He has worked in the personnel department in Denver and the engineering department in Denver and Phoenix.

Mr. Vogel said a new district manager for Twin Falls has not been named.

T. F. Water Pollution Has Interested Israeli Firm

Twin Falls innovations in water pollution control have interested a water company in the Galilee District, Israel, near the Jordan River, H. L. (Hir) Derrick, announced Thursday.

Mr. Derrick received a letter from S. T. Nigol, Mekoroth Water Co. Ltd., Galilee District, Safed, Israel, requesting information on the separation of suspended solids from raw river water, presumably, the Snake River.

learned of area experimentation.

He requested information on suspended solid composition and the contents of raw river water, suspended solids of pumped water, separation equipment, and initial cost and operating costs per cubic foot of pumped water.

Mr. Derrick said the letter would be processed and sent to qualified persons who could answer the letter fully.

Mr. Nigol stated that through State Conservationist, Lee T. Morgan, Boise, the company

Rotary Hears Legislative Problems

SHOSHONE — Lieut. Gov. Jack M. Murphy spoke on coming problems of the Idaho Legislature at the Rotary club meeting here last week.

Wilson Churchman, program chairman, introduced Murphy who spoke on possible revision of the primary election law and stated that questions to be considered in the next session probably will include sales tax amendment, air and water pollution, assessment ratio of property, oleomargarine tax and head tax and formation of an atomic energy commission to conform with federal requirements.

He advanced the Hesth plan for the primary election which almost passed the legislature in 1961. This plan would require an open primary first, to include all candidates, with party conventions later for party endorsement.

Also, he added, since the governor and attorney general must be closely associated in the state administration, it would give the selected party candidates for governor a bit more to say in the nomination of an attorney general.

Murphy advocates the candidacies of governor and lieutenant governor as a team rather than independent of each other. Guests at the club meeting were Tom Morrison, Fred Lucke, Ed Reay, Welliver Miller and Robert Winterholer, all Gooding; Vernon Exner, Haller; Joe Shaw, Chris Mabbutt, John Haddock and Charles Mabbutt, all Shoshone.

Members voted to assist with advertising for the Cub Scout pack since they sponsor the pack in Shoshone.

Poisonous Home Products To Be Stored With Care

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Health Department urges care in the storage of a number of common household products which contain poisonous ingredients. Seven deaths have occurred in Idaho in 1966, the department said, from poisoning accidents in the home.

"The first rule of poison prevention," said Dr. John A. Mather, the department's director of preventive medicine, "is to safely store such items as ammonia, insect poisons, aspirin, household bleaches, turpentine, plant sprays, etc., away from the exploring hands of children, and to be sure all such items are carefully marked so that adults or older children don't inadvertently swallow them." The department said that if poisons are taken accidentally a physician should be called at once. The agency suggests, too, that each household be provided with a list of antidotes which can be taken immediately for a large number of poisons. Such a list is available at most drug stores.

bidding and play.
East and West had a really tough par on this hand. The bidding in the box is what Geoff suggested and West was directed to open the queen of hearts against the four-spade doubled contract.
South would ruff and lead the queen of spades whereupon it would be up to East to win that first spade, look dummy over carefully, note that he would only be able to defeat the contract if West could show up with the ten of diamonds. East then would lead a diamond and eventually wind up with two spades, one diamond, one club and his par score.

Geoff realized that somehow or other East, and West might get to five hearts. In that case it was up to North to double and then find the defense to beat the contract one trick.
A spade would be opened by either North or South. Declarer would win, ruff a spade to get to the West hand and finesse in trumps. North would have to duck the first heart and cover the second one. Declarer would get back to the West hand with another trump and his best play would be to lead the ten of diamonds.
If North ducks, the diamond ten is allowed to ride and the hand makes. If North goes right up with the ace the hand will also make. North must cover with the queen whereupon there will be no way for declarer to get back to the West lead twice more and he will go in.

Vietnamese Rangers, Criticized For Passiveness, Shoulder Mekong Burden

By JOHN NANCE
CAT LAY, South Vietnam, moved in search of a Viet Cong hide-out. By nightfall, whether they found the enemy or not, they would have to be back at a base area to protect it. "We would like to stay out longer, but our orders always bring us back at night," said Maj. Van Huan, battalion commander.

Huan had been fighting nearly all his life. As a boy in North Vietnam he carried his rifle and fought against the French. He moved south when the nation was partitioned in 1954. He fought in the Vietnam war against the Viet Cong, he said, and didn't like it. Huan's eyes narrow when he is reminded of the Viet Cong. He said Vietnamese troops are lackluster in fighting men who steal from villages, desert to stay in the background and let Americans and other allies do the fighting.

"Not into battle," Huan said simply. "These men have pride. They are good fighters. They are patriots."

"I don't know about others, but they are not my business," said the 32nd unit's commander.

The lean men, most not much above 5 feet tall, were loaded with machine guns, machine guns, grenades, ammunition boxes.

Many carried their rifles by the muzzle and balanced it on a shoulder. Chickens, brought along for lunch, cranked out of a few pockets several necks, blaring music.

The Rangers waded paddles, slithered along narrow dikes and foraged deep, brown streams. They made human chains across canals and picked through expansive islands of jungle.

Farm houses sheltered women, children and old men. In the long time Viet Cong country there were no young men to be found.

The Rangers' chief medic, a sergeant, ducked into houses with an aid. They treated a young mother ailing from a difficult childbirth, left penicillin for a little boy with dark circles under his eyes, and gave an injection to an old woman bedridden in her dark hut.

"Medical aid," said the outlet's psychological warfare officer, Lt. Tran Quoc Van, said something we can prove that the Viet Cong just can't compete with. They don't have the medicines."

The troops stopped for a breather. Chickens and small pigs rummaged through the mud-strewn farmyard.

"Hey! Where's old number one chicken stealer?" shouted an American adviser, Ward Lutz of Sharon Springs, Kan.

Grinning, Lutz pointed at a sheepishly smiling ranger. Lutz said the reputation of Vietnamese troops for stealing chickens and fowl was so bad that the 32nd tried to discourage it.

"The officers realize that this kind of thing does a lot of harm with the civilians," Lutz said, "and they make a real effort to stop it."

The final word on discipline came from the battalion commander. A serious offender or a repeater may have his head shaved clean and be sentenced to the cage — a small bamboo enclosure in which a man has to curl up to lie down or stoop over when he stands up.

Severe floods had recently ravaged parts of this area and driven away some of the larger bands of guerrillas. Their trenches were filled with water; ammunition caches were submerged.

Civilians also were hit hard by the floods.

A Ranger private earns base pay of about $500 a month (about $21), plus 300 piasters (2.50 for each dependent). He can buy food at a discount through a commissary.

That is about equivalent to the earnings of an unskilled laborer in a city. A Ranger is considered an elite soldier and is paid slightly more than a regular infantryman. All Rangers are volunteers.

Jews Had Protection In Bulgaria During World War

By TOM A. CULLEN
SOFIA, Bulgaria (NEA) — There were 50,000 Jews in Bulgaria when World War II started and there were 50,000 there when it ended. Bulgaria refused to sacrifice a single Jew to Hitler's gas chambers. It was the only country in Europe to take such a stand.

After the agonies of Auschwitz and Belsen, the story of Bulgaria's resistance to the Nazi death camps is a refreshing one. To keep the memory of it alive the Jewish center in Sofia is planning to open a museum.

It will be different than most museums of its kind. There will be no mounds of clothing, or little piles of gold teeth and human hair such as one finds at the Jewish museums in Berlin.

In Sofia, the accent will be on the solidarity between Christian and Jew in fighting Hitlerism. In fact, the Orthodox Church, the activities of the trade unions and the professional organizations, as well as the Orthodox Church, are thwarting Hitler's anti-Jewish policies will be featured in displays. "There will be photographs, clippings of clippings, newspapers, protests that were sent to the Bulgarian king, Boris III."

Hiam Oliver, a screen writer and leader of the Jewish community, has been scouring Europe for exhibits to add to the new museum, which is being financed by the Bulgarian government.

Bulgaria was free from anti-Semitism because the Bulgarians themselves had been under Jewish yoke for 500 years and they knew what slavery was," says Oliver.

Also, there were not enough Jews in Bulgaria to lure to economic or cultural life. They were never forced to live in ghettos, or to separate themselves from other people, that is, until King Boris signed the anti-Comintern pact with Hitler in 1940.

The Germans occupied Bulgaria in 1941, and after that they sought to enforce the so-called Nuremberg laws against the Jews. Jews were required to wear a yellow star on their sleeves, to join in ghettos. Their food rations were cut; they were restricted to certain jobs and to making their purchases in certain shops.

"Enforcement broke down from the very beginning," says Oliver. "Bulgarian Christians, who no tradition of anti-Semitism, simply ignored the existence of the ghetto and continued to trade in Jewish shops. The whole thing became a farce."

They did more. They sent sharp protests to their king, demanding to know why their good Jewish neighbors were being hounded.

Hiam made two attempts to liquidate Bulgaria's Jews, both of which failed. The first was in March, 1943, shortly after the Gestapo conference at Vassau at which the so-called "Final Solution" was adopted.

The Gestapo began by rounding up the Jews in the town of Vustudil, where the Jews numbered 950 out of a population of 25,000. The operation was conducted in great secrecy. But the townspeople were furious when they learned what was happening.

That same night they dispatched a delegation to Sofia to protest to Parliament. They were so successful in lobbying

Dinner Held For Simplot Employees

HEYBURN — Annual Christmas dinner for employees of J. R. Simplot Company at Heyburn and the Simplot Salubrious of Burley and Rupert was served Wednesday at the Heyburn cafeteria, courtesy of the company.

Mrs. Cecil Williams, Burley, cafeteria supervisor, organized the meals for 877 employees during the day, night and swing shifts. Cooks for the dinners included Mrs. Victor Dalagoloff, Rupert, and Mrs. Audra Stuber, Heyburn. Edward Doruchuk, both Heyburn, were also present.

According to John McBride, personnel director, the meal consisted of 238 pounds of turkey, 240 pounds of ham, 250 pounds of dressing, 70 dozen rolls, 12 pies and the remaining accessories.

Processing operations ceased long enough for all employees to check into the holiday decorated cafeteria for the dinner during the day.

The Heyburn plant shut down Friday morning until Jan. 3 for the holidays. Maintenance will continue during this time.

Last Congress Is Called Leader In Enacting Laws Conserving Resources

By JOHN KAMPS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The last Congress has been called a leader in the enactment of legislation to conserve natural resources. It may have passed more such bills than any other Congress, except possibly those that paralleled the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt.

But major conservation bills were not passed until after President John F. Kennedy's death in 1963. Some probably will be passed despite hand cuts ordered by President Johnson.

Water measures to be considered in the next session include those to authorize several big projects.

One expected to be proposed in the $47 million Southwest Idaho Development Project.

A showdown may develop on a bill, rejected last year, to authorize a $1.7 billion development on the Colorado River.

Congress will be asked to authorize a $72 million contribution toward the construction of a $445 million combination of salting-atomic power generation plant of the southern California coast. Atomic Energy Commission participation in the project has been authorized.

Rival bills will be re-introduced to give the interior and commerce departments authority to conduct western reclamation (reclaiming) programs. The commerce project has a price tag of $15 million.

A bill to create a national water commission to study water problems, including interbasin diversions, will be brought up again in 1967.

Such a project was proposed in

Extension Schedule At Burley Given

POCATELLO — A tentative list of evening classes offered through Idaho State University's continuing education program for the spring semester at Burley is being announced today by Dr. Richard Merriman, director.

Tuition fees will increase from $12.50 a credit hour to $15 a credit hour plus a $1.50 library fee per student, according to Merriman. A group of 12 or more students may request a reduced rate.

Previously a minimum of 15 students was required to establish or continue a class, he said.

Courses tentatively scheduled for Burley are English 101, English Composition, English 202, American Writers, three credits; Education 207, Educational Psychology, three credits; Education 322, Literature for Children, 3 credits; Education 442, Audio-Visual Education, two credits; Visual Education, two credits; Library Science 335, Library Administration, three credits; and Drama 611, Creative Dramatics, three credits.

Evening classes at the continuing education centers offer the same residence credits as day time offerings and are taught by members of the university faculty. Enrollment is open to high school graduates. Persons 16 years of age or older may register as an auditor — non credit student with the instructor's permission.

Registration will be from 7 p.m. Feb. 2 at Burley High School. Additional information may be obtained from Merriman, 326-3408, Pocatello, or Doyle Lowder, Burley coordinator, in Burley.
